Winn-Dixie Announces Management Team

Now that Winn-Dixie has celebrated the Grand Opening of its first Marketplace in Leesburg, 1553 U.S. Highway 19, South, Location Director Ralph Justice is pleased to introduce the members of his new management team. The store, complete with several specialty departments, including: a Pharmacy; One-Hour Photo Lab; a Floral Department, and an eat-in or take-out Deli/Cafe, is staffed with experts ready to assist customers with any requests, and will include a professional chef and a licensed pharmacist as well.

Justice will head up the Winn Dixie team and serve as the location director for the new store. He began his career with Winn-Dixie ten years ago as a carry-out clerk in the midtown area of Albany and has worked his way up to his current position. Prior to being location director, Justice served as dairy frozen food manager, produce manager, co-manager, to name a few, and most recently as the location manager for the store in Oak Ridge. Originally from Albany, Justice resides in Lee County and has one daughter, Sierra. According to Justice, he and his staff are excited to provide Lee County shoppers the extensive service and selection the new Marketplace has to offer.

"I'm looking forward to taking care of the residents in Lee County," said Justice. "This new store, complete with its specialty departments and state-of-the-art design, will be an asset to the residents of Leesburg, providing the community greater variety at Winn-Dixie's same everyday low prices."

In addition to the specialty departments, this new Marketplace will feature a Pharmacy to attend to customers' health care needs. John Powers will be ready to assist customers with their personal health care needs and answer any related questions. Powers graduated from the University of Georgia with a bachelor's degree in pharmacy and previously worked with another retail chain prior to joining Winn-Dixie. John and his wife, Sandra, reside in Albany with their daughters, Lauren and Katie.

The most unique feature of the new store is the Deli/Cafe, where a professional chef will be on hand to give customers personal advice on food preparation as well as cook up a wide variety of specialty dishes. Cindi Murphy has over 15 years experience and has brought her culinary skills to the new Marketplace. Originally from Albany, Murphy graduated from the Albany Technical School where she maintained a 4.0 average and was a member of the National Honor's Society.

Prior to joining Winn-Dixie, Murphy spent the last three years as a chef with Carrs Restaurant. The need to satisfy customers is evident to Murphy as she once operated a catering service, Murphy's Catering, for ten years. She became interested in the field due to her love of cooking and considers stuffed mushrooms, Italian meatballs, blackened chicken and teriaki wings her specialty dishes. Murphy also serves as a leader for the Girl Scouts, was formerly an assistant headmaster with the Boy Scouts and is a coach for youth baseball with Lee County recreational. Originally from Albany, she and her husband, Tim, have resided in Leesburg for the past 18 years and have three children, Chris, Brian and Rachel.

Justice is proud to announce the additional members of his management team for the new Leesburg Marketplace. Co-Manager, Michael Senn, Assistant Manager, Ronald A. Parents Concerned With Educational Environment Of Special Education Son

Larry and Kathy Breeden, long-time residents of Lee County, are demanding that the Lee County Board of Education provide a different educational environment for their son Michael.

The Breedens have contacted the administration and the board of education about their concerns with a intellectual disabilities teacher. They stressed in a letter addressed to Wendy Martin, Chairman of the board of education, the repeated verbal abuse, intimidation and harassment that Michael and his classmates have endured during the past school year.

According to Kathy Breeden, at least one other parent had written a letter outlining her daughter's treatment by the same teacher.

The Breedens stated that Michael should have every right not only as a student at Lee County High, but especially as a special education student to have a stable and positive environment capable of providing the positive reinforcement which special education students so desperately need and deserve. The Breedens further state that they do not believe that teacher is capable of providing that type of stable environment.

In the letter addressed to the board chairman, they share their opinion that the administration of Lee County High School has failed miserably in its duty to adequately document the teacher's mistreatment of special education students in her classes and that their son, Michael, will not benefit from attending her class.

On June 12, Dr. Robert A. Clay, School Superintendent, informed Kathy Breeden in a letter that a conference had been held regarding Mrs. Breeden's concern with the teacher's conduct in the classes that Michael attends. The conference was attended by Bill Sampson, high school principal, Marica Arnold, director of special education, and the teacher.

According to that letter, the teacher was given expectations for dealing with students during that conference.

Lee County The crew would respond to other parts of the county if needed.

Mr. Watkins said some work will be required at the fire station to make it liveable for the crew. Some furnishings will also be required.

EMS has had an ambulance stationed at Century Fire Station since February of this year. The addition of the crew to go with the ambulance will eliminate the time lost in traveling to the station to pick up the ambulance and then responding to a call.

Personnel are tentatively scheduled to go on duty at Century Fire Station on September 1.

and those expectations were put in writing.

Dr. Clay stated in his letter that the school administrators will be aware of the parents' concern and will do what they can to prevent the mistreatment of any student.

Kathy said that she and her husband are charging the Lee Board of Education with the responsibility of providing Michael with an alternative special education teacher capable of providing a stable, positive and wholesome learning environment necessary to meet his education needs as outlined in his individual education plan.

McCleskey Mills Announces Plans To Build Cotton Gin

McCleskey Mills, Inc. this week announced their intent to build a Cotton Gin near the city of Bronwood, Georgia. The Gin will be called McCleskey Cotton Company. The project is a joint effort by McCleskey Mills and Worth Gin Co., Sylvester, Georgia.

Jerry Chandler of McCleskey, stated that the Worth Gin staff has a proven track record in ginning. "They bring considerable experience in the ginning and marketing of cotton to the project."

"With the tremendous increase in cotton acreage in Terrell, Lee, Sumter, and other counties, this area needs a modern cotton gin," said Mr. Chandler.

"The new Lummus Plant will turn out 30 bales per hour and will be one of the most modern in the state. It will be capable of delivering the best grades and yields of any gin around," added Mr. Chandler.

Scheduled to be in operation by November 1, 1995, the gin will employ two full time and approximately 20 seasonal employees.

Ronnie Lee has been named General Manager of McCleskey Cotton Company with responsibility for overall operations. Ronnie is a native of Terrell County, and is Vice President of McCleskey Mills, Inc. where he has served as Operations Manager for the past 12 years.

Keith Gill, Gin Manager of Worth Gin Co., will also serve as Gin Manager of this gin. Keith was most recently employed by Lummus Gin Co., Columbus, Georgia. He is a graduate of Texas Tech University and has considerable experience in gin equipment installation and operations.

The McCleskey staff invites all growers in the area to visit the construction site just off Hwy 118, near Bronwood.
